

Taking the extra steps

Certified Green

HSI is certified as a Green Company by the State of California. Our Green certification was received after passing numerous audits including; power consumption, water usage, and waste storage. It is our intent, our drive and our focus to minimize our carbon footprint everyday. Having a green certification is a public affirmation of HSI's commitment to providing a healthier environment for ourselves, our customers and the patients they serve.

Women-Owned Business Enterprise

HSI is proud to be certified as an Women-Owned Business Enterprise, and feel the certification is essential to our global outlook. We ask, however, that you not focus on our gender or ethnicity, we at HSI are most proud of our people, quality products, and our exemplary customer service. We hope that in all your dealings with us the focus will remain on our ability to provide the best solution for your patient care environment and clinical training needs.

Manufactured Entirely in the USA

Even during tough economic times, HSI has made a strong commitment to our community and our country and have worked tirelessly to keep our manufacturing facility and all of the jobs associated with HSI here in the United States. As we have experienced growth, we have never considered opening foreign plants. With all of our production in the USA, we can ensure the highest levels of quality to our customers.

Certified Small Business

HSI is proud to be a Certified Small Business. While we qualify under SBA and keep our agility that of a small business, we have the capacity to exceed your expectations on any sized order.
